

Youth Insight Pack - Summary

Sportivate

From insight to action

Sport England have developed design principles for the type of experience different groups of young people are looking for. INTERVENTIONS and programmes should be tested against these 'must-have' principles.

Level the playing field

- Lets face it, some people just dislike sport after having BAD EXPERIENCES or just think they are no good at sport.
- NEW or UNUSUAL sports or different locations can provide more of a level playing field.
- Can you promote without using SPORT or FUN in the title!

Create meaningful experiences

- There needs to be REASONS for young people to keep coming back
- An individual message gives them a good feeling of SELF WORTH.
- Create sessions with a more 'ABOUT ME' feel

Context & Environment

- Each generation is DIFFERENT.
- CHANGE in delivery is required to maintain levels of interest
- THINK ABOUT differing ways to promote your activity; SOCIAL MEDIA and TEXTING individuals have a greater impact than leaflets and emails!

Sport England Youth Insight Pack Summary

Don't underestimate passive participation

- Some purely take part for SOCIAL reasons
- Playing sport is a passive act for many who are carried along by what their FRIENDS / FAMILY are doing
- As they grow up greater OPTIONS are required

Change behaviour not attitudes

- Each individual feels DIFFERENTLY about sport
- What makes them WANT to take part?
- Selling sport as fun does NOT always work!

Functional or lifestyle reasons

- MOTIVATIONS change as young people grow up
- Looking and feeling GOOD becomes more important
- The shift towards FITNESS-RELATED activities is occurring at an earlier age than previously
- The need to keep ENGAGING and INTERACTING with young people, particularly girls, on what matters to them

The supply of sport tends to reach those who are already engaged

- What can you do to engage with those who are inactive?
- How can you offer your activity to those that are not already taking part
